PHYSICIAN RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. Inform your caseworker of your pregnancy and due date. You and your child will continue to be insured through a different Medicaid plan.
2. Use a patient portal to access your health information for constant engagement in your health. The portal will allow you to view test results, including the required newborn screening, which identifies conditions that affect your child's long-term health and survival.
3. Reach out to all past providers and request they send your medical records to your current provider via health information exchange. Health information exchange will electronically share your health history without the need to travel to past providers.
